Dynamics of a Changing Population

As the Madison-area population continues to become more diverse, advertising and marketing professionals need to understand the changing markets and major trends affecting their clients.

The Madison Times (TMT) allows clients to reach new markets and expand their customer base by targeting all of the growing market's under-represented demographics, including African American, Hispanic, Asian and teenage audiences. TMT takes advantage of the region's expanding growth in the minority populations.

Audience

TMT knows whose reading. Over 17,000 people read TMT every week. Its journalistic excellence attracts a diverse audience; a majority from Madison's multicultural communities. African-American teens and young adults compile almost 30 percent of our readership – a growing population that spends 20 percent more per month than the average U.S. teen on items such as brand name clothing, video game hardware and casual/leisure shoes.
